What is AVP ?

AVP is a training programme enabling participants to deal with potentially violent situations in new and creative ways.

Workshops are experiential.
It's not based on lectures but on participants sharing their experience and skills with different types of exercises, role plays and discussions.

There are four levels of workshops: basic, second level, male awareness and training for facilitators.

Workshop are led by experienced volunteer facilitators within AVP

Volunteering with AVP

AVP Ireland is looking for volunteer facilitators to run workshops in Irish prisons and communities.

The rest of the training will be run in prison

It will give you the opportunity to get a very powerful training almost for free and to contribute in a meaningful way to develop the culture of non violence in society.

One commitment when you are trained: giving away three week-ends per year to facilitate workshops.
